AGENDA

The world has never seen a greater volatile, uncertain, complex and ambiguous time than today. The content of education, the method of educating, the relevance of educators are all being challenged after COVID-19. The higher education space is facing a number of questions: How to deliver value? How to stay connected? How to leverage scale? How to mass-customize? How to break geographical boundaries and get education to reach all corners of the world without any dilution? Many organizations beyond traditional colleges and universities are attempting to resolve these questions. Hence we have taken this initiative to create the future ready workforce with Design Thinking Mindset.
